SOME DEGREES OF DIFFERENCE, IN LATITUDE AND TEMPERATURE--As a feeble winter sun sheds its little warmth, and the wind whips in his face, John Day of Bethel, left, takes arms against a sea of drifting snow. "It's a never-ending job," he said, echoing the grumbles of us all following the weekend storm. But the weather was much balmer earlier this month in the Dominican Republic, when the Gould freshman class visited the island nation's national zoo, as part of the academy's Four Points program. Enough already!

But it could have been a lot worse

By WENDY HANSCOM

It was a respectable storm. Not the "Storm of the Century" or "The Mother of All Blizzards," or quite the storm the weathermen predicted--at least not around here.

But the weekend's storm, now billed "The Blizzard of '93," added about 18 inches of snow to the approximately three feet already on the ground.

The 18.6 inches recorded in Portland was the second greatest March snowfall within a 24-hour period.

This is also the second snowiest February and March on record, with over 73.2 inches recorded in Portland.

Area residents were quick to heed the blizzard warnings that began as early as Thursday, and they braced themselves for the possibility of power outages.

Business was brisk at several Bethel businesses before the storm hit. By Saturday afternoon there were no size D batteries to be found anywhere in town.

Jeri Greenwell at Brooks Bros. said the store was out of all batteries but nine volts by Saturday afternoon. Kerosene lamps and heaters were gone by early Friday afternoon, she said, and people also depleted the store's ample supply of candles.

"It was a zoo," Greenwell said. "Some people were so grateful if you just gave them a candle. Others were downright rude and said they were stuck in a town like Bethel during the storm."

The Bethel IGA tried to close early Saturday night so their employees could go home, but people just kept coming in.

"We wanted to close at 6," said store owner Carl Glidden, "but at 7 I had someone take a head count and there were still 65 people in the store. It was outrageous."

Store manager Rod Royer said four clerks who live in the village ran the cash registers Saturday

The good, the bad, the ugly

By WENDY HANSCOM

This year's bounty of snow has been a boon for local ski areas, but not everybody's excited about the deep powder.

Two snowstorms last week dumped 10 inches of fresh snow and Saturday's blizzard added another 18 inches to the three feet or so already on the ground. The accumulation, most observers agree, is about as high as it's been in 15 years.

This year's snow was late com-conditions, with four-foot-plus bases.

"Our trails are going up into the trees," said Steve Wight at Sunday River Friday, before the Nor'easter hit. "If we get much more we'll have to plow it off the trails."

"It looks like we'll have good conditions right to the end. We're planning to close on April 4. But we're really excited about hosting the International Cross-Country Ski Area Operators Convention

ing. The first big storm hit Jan. 13, but the white-out has seemed non-stop since.

School in SAD 44 was canceled Tuesday and Thursday. After the weekend's big storm, classes were delayed an hour Monday morning while road crews plowed away overnight drifting.

Some snowbanks in local parking lots are over 15 feet high, and the snow is armpit deep in places in the woods.

The skiing's great

The snow has been a windfall for local cross-country ski areas. The Bethel Inn, Carter's Cross-Country Center in East Bethel and Sunday River Cross-Country Ski Center all report excellent on April 12-16. We're looking forward to having snow for that."

In East Bethel David Carter said personally he could do with less snow.

"I'm with some of the old-timers who've had enough," Carter said. "Two or three inches at 20 degrees would be fine, but this is just great for skiing."

"The skiing is so good," Carter joked, "that the Ray Buck's chickens are coming across the street to rent skis. We're as busy as bees trying to keep everybody happy."

At Sunday River Ski Resort spokesman Skip King said the weekend storms have kept skier

Bethel selectmen recommend 13.7% town budget hike

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel selectmen have proposed a 13.7 percent ($152,227) increase in the town's municipal budget for the coming fiscal year.

The town Budget Committee will begin its review of the selectmen's proposal at a meeting Thursday evening.

Last year the municipal portion of Bethel's budget (exclusive of school and county taxes) dropped by more than $20,000, as the selectmen and budget committee chopped away at town expenses in order to offset as much as possible the effect of increases in school and county taxes.

This year, however, the selectmen felt the town had some pressing needs that could no longer be reasonably ignored or put off.

The largest single increase in the selectmen's proposed budget is an appropriation of $183,000 ($109,000 of which is new money) for the funding of a Capital Improvement Plan (CIP).

The plan was developed this year by a CIP Committee established by the selectmen. It is intended to serve as "a guide for insuring the maintenance of an adequate general fund infrastructure," according to Town Manager Madeleine Henley.

The money recommended for the CIP this year would be used on town roads, and for the purchase of an ambulance (put off from last year), a dump truck, firefighter turn-out gear and other relatively big ticket items.

Other increases this year include solid waste hauling fees (up

$7,960), street lights and other electrical charges ($6,630), general office maintenance contracts ($5,650), town garage equipment repair ($4,100), ambulance service equipment ($3,765) and ambulance garage maintenance and repair ($3,612).

The proposed budget also includes an increase of $4,210 in employee benefits, $8,820 in pay increases for full-time employees and $8,531 in increases in hours and/or compensation for part-time employees and on-call personnel.

Accounts decreasing in the proposed budget include solid waste tipping fees (down $24,218), debt service ($9,400), water testing at the landfill ($4,800) and miscel-

Greenwood OK's revaluation

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Unfazed by dire treats of "the storm of the century" bearing down on them, Greenwood voters took four and a half hours Saturday to work through a 52-item Town Meeting warrant.

Approximately 30 voters turned out for Saturday's meeting, a somewhat smaller than usual showing. For the most part those who did show up went along with the recommendations of their selectmen.

Voters also re-elected all incumbent town officials without opposition.

The most significant new item on the warrant was the recommendation that the town spend $50,000 over a two-year period to revalue property in town and create a comprehensive set of tax records.

First Selectman Marie Bartlett said the board was recommending the revaluation because the town's current tax records were either non-existent or so incomplete as to be virtually useless.

But former town assessor Herb Dunham--who had been ousted by voters at a special Town Meeting last year--complained, "That $50,000 is more than I made in 20 years as assessor." Dunham said that he had offered to do the re-assessment for "four or five thousand dollars."

Dunham, who as assessor had kept what tax records he had at his home, also argued that ever since the selectmen had hired an outside assessing agent it was necessary to go to Auburn when tax information was needed.

"It was a lot easier to go to Rowe Hill (Dunham's home) than to go to Auburn," he said.

But John O'Donnell, the assessing agent hired when Dunham was let go, described the records he inherited from his predecessor as "the worst that I've seen in 15 years of working with towns."

Pointing out that Greenwood's assessment distributed $750,000 in

A threat, but is it news?

It is sad and ironic that only a few days after a threat from nature passed through town, leaving a mess of snow, but also bringing out the best in community spirit—those hundreds of unrecorded but essential acts of kindness and unselfish neighborliness—that some local hero had to go and rub our face in the ugly side of humanity.

We could go on about how gutless and stupid bomb threats, and the people that make them, are, but the losers who do such things are comfortably beneath the reach of ridicule—and they probably don't read a lot.

We will, however, state our policy on providing news coverage of such incidents. The Citizen will report, briefly, the first such occurrence, but if more threats are called in, they will not be covered in this newspaper—unless we feel some significant new development calls for further public scrutiny.

We don't know how much of a role desire for publicity plays in such incidents. We think not much, but we will not risk encouraging a dumb idea by giving it free ink.

Probably no policy is ideal in dealing with such matters, but that's ours.

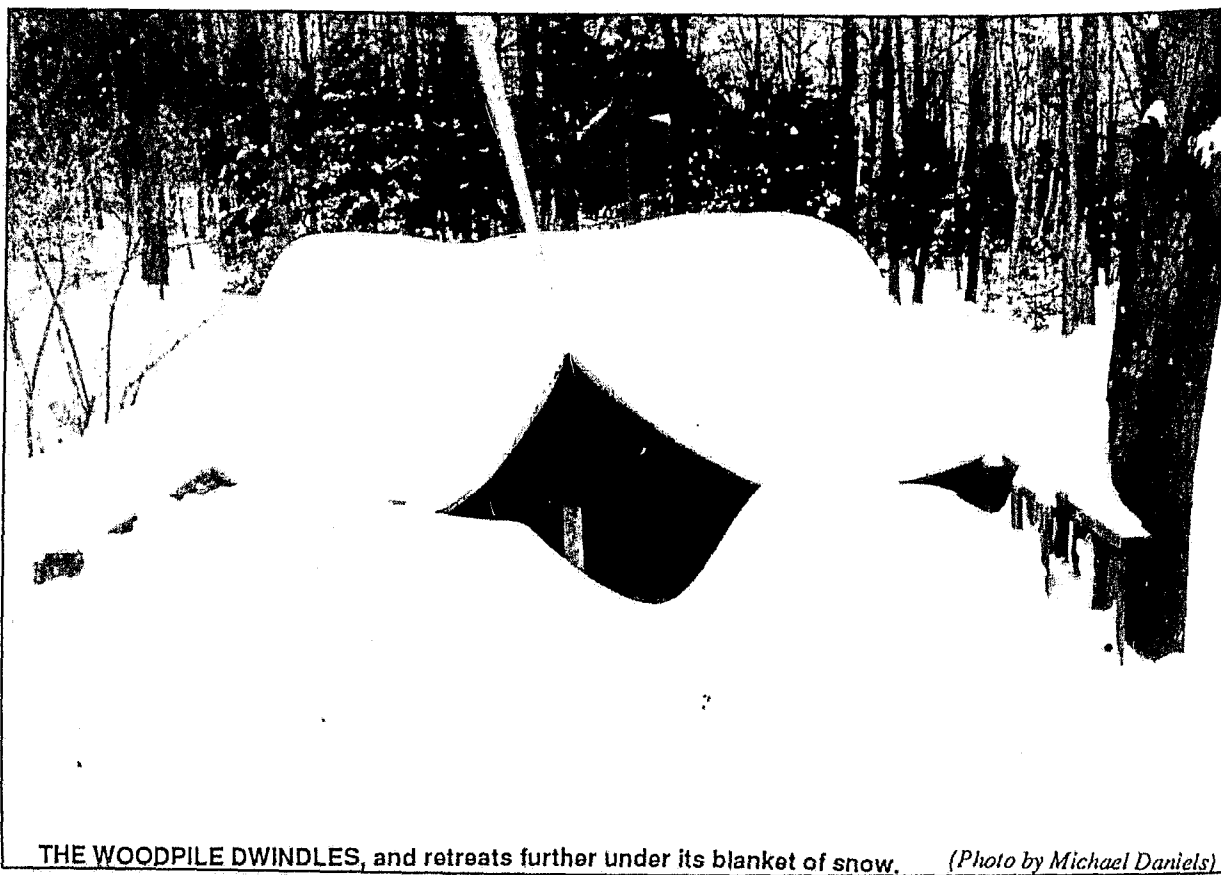

But we will, with gusto, report any news of the arrest and conviction of anyone making such threats.

And to end on positive note, we will mention that The Citizen, like many businesses in the area, had career week students with us last week.

And we had them for all five work days. Even before the weekend's storm, bad weather had forced the cancellation of two days of school during the week, but Chris Howe and Keith Smith were here bright and early both days. And we hear that many other career week students were similarly dutiful—that they didn't grab the easy excuse for a day off. They realized that work had to be done (even if it was only to get in their 35 hours) and they showed up to do it.

Way to go, guys.

night. "From 10 o'clock Friday morning on it was a mob scene in here," he said.

Saturday the store sold out of milk and most batteries. Clerks were also busy Monday morning restocking the produce, pet food and meat departments.

Safe at home

Most people stayed off the roads during the storm.

John Dority of the Maine Department of Transportation said because people heeded the storm warnings during the storm, he said, and no vehicles had to be towed.

Bellman, Fire Department and Bethel Rescue personnel went door-to-door in village elderly complexes making sure everyone was ready for the storm.

"I was expecting the worse," Bellman said. "I think everybody did the smart thing by being prepared."

Richard Hosterman, director of Bethel's Emergency Management Agency said that had it been needed shelter would have been available during the storm at Telstar High School, the Gould Academy field-house and the Bethel fire station.

Snow

visits down a little.

"Weekends are not quite as big as we could handle," King said. "The skiing is fantastic. It's some of the best we've had on the natural snow trails in some time."

Scott Twitchell at Pure Snowboards in Bethel said he and his snowboarding friends have taken to the woods. "We're skiing in snow fields, down dry brook beds and in the woods near Sunday River," Twitchell said.

It's not for everybody

While ski areas and winter recreational enthusiasts are thrilled with the abundant snowfall, others are not so happy.

Timber harvesters are finding it hard going in the woods.

"The logging roads are getting pretty narrow," said Leslie Robertson of Robertson Logging in Newry. "The snow is all the same consistency. It's like cornmeal all the way through. You jump off the skidder and you're over your waist."

It's not only hard to get around in the woods, it's costing some loggers money.

"It slows down production," said Don Bennett of Bennett's Lumbering in Bethel. "When the snow is belt deep, you don't walk to a tree, you inch toward it carrying a shovel and chainsaw. Then you have to shovel out the tree and an escape route. When you fall a tree you don't want to be in a hole beside it."

Bennett said in the past few years he's plowed his logging roads and landing area five or six times a year.

"Last week I had to plow three times," he said. "I must have plowed 50 times already this year. Sometimes it takes three or four hours of snow removal to make the job operational."

"The good side of it is that everybody's production is down, so the mills aren't seeing the quantity of wood they like to see. So if you can get it out you can sell it. We're putting out 30 to 40 percent less than we were even a month ago."

Bennett said it's so hard to get around he's been forced to put up some equipment and lay off a worker.

"I'm tired of it," he said. "I'll probably shake hands with the first backfly I meet. I never thought I'd say that."

Lots of snow also makes for lots of work in car sales, according to Judy Barker of Bethel Auto Sales.

"You have to clean all the cars off," she said, "then get the key to each car, then move them and plow, then move them all back and lock them up. It's a mess."

Cleanup is costly

Cleaning up after this winter's storms has been costly.

John Dority of the Maine Department of Transportation said that as of mid-week last week the state was on budget, but Saturday's storm has now put a strain on the budget.

"This storm cost us in excess of $600,000," Dority said. "It will put a strain in our budget, but we plan to keep plowing and doing whatever it takes to keep traffic moving in Maine."

Woodstock Town Manager Vern Maxfield said his January and February expenses for snow removal are up $6,000 over last year.

"The budget looks OK for now," Maxfield said. "If November and December are bad, we could be in trouble."

"It isn't helping our budget any," said Andover Selectman Wayne Delano, "but there's nothing we can do about it. When you live up here in the woods you have to expect it."

Bethel Town Manager Madeleine Henley said at the end of February she had $35,000 left in the town's public works budget.

"Payroll until the end of this budget is about $25,000," Henley said. "So that only leaves me with about $10,000 for things like overtime, culverts in the spring, gas, oil, supplies and parts. I expect we'll probably go over budget, but I can't predict how much now."

Henley said that since mid-February, public works employees have been putting in, on average, over 60 hours a week.

Spring flooding?

The continuing cold and the second snowiest February and March on record have everyone wondering if spring rains will bring a flood like the one six years ago.

Weather forecasters say they can't predict whether or not all this spring snow will cause severe flooding, but they acknowledge the conditions exist for high water.

The 1987 flood came after the state received 78 inches of snow, followed by warm temperatures and three days of rain at the end of March.

Officials at the National Weather Service say the determining factor will be how fast the snow melts.

If warm dry air moves into the region, the snow will evaporate. If the area gets hit with heavy spring rain, before the snow melts, rivers could slip their banks rather quickly.

"Just because there's lots of snow, that doesn't necessarily mean there'll be flooding. It might melt slowly and we'll have no problem," said Tom Hawley, a hydrometeorologist with the National Weather Service. "You only get major flooding with a major rain event."

Cross your fingers.

Budget

laneous ambulance services ($3,975).

The proposal going before the budget committee includes an "enterprise budget" option for the town's solid waste function.

Such a budget, like that used for the Bethel Water District, includes its own revenue and expenditure streams, and would be independent of the town budget and tax base.

Implementing such a budget would require the imposition of a user fee for waste disposal, most likely a pay-per-bag system.

The selectmen are scheduled to hold a workshop on the pay-per-bag concept next month, and to schedule a public hearing following the workshop.

Other town functions that might later be suitable for enterprise budgets include the airport and ambulance service, Henley said.

Thursday's Budget Committee meeting will be at 7:30 in the Town Office meeting room.

The Budget Committee is scheduled to complete its review and have its own Town Meeting budget recommendation by March 29.

Snow days are piling up

The snow days, like the snow banks, are rapidly mounting up.

So far this school-year, winter storms have forced the cancellation of seven school days.

District administrators are meeting with the teacher's association this week to discuss the specifics of how students will make up lost school days.

Some of the alternatives under discussion include extending the hours in the school day, dropping some days off April vacation, holding school on Saturday or a combination of those options, according to Superintendent Dewaine Craig.

Classes were held Monday, after Saturday's blizzard dumped 18 inches of snow on the area. But even though the first day of spring is next week, snowstorms as late as mid-April are not uncommon. More school days could also be missed due to spring flooding.

If the school days missed so far were added to the end of this year's school calendar, students wouldn't get out until June 22.

Craig said that could cut into students' and teachers' summer school plans.

The district also needs time to do remodeling work at the Crescent Park School in Bethel before construction starts on the school's new addition.

"We're going to take the asbestos out of there," Craig said. "It will take at least four days to clean the school out."

Craig said all the options will be discussed at the March 22 school board meeting and the administration should have a recommendation to present to the board at the April 12 meeting.

From the Bethel Police log:

Skier makes good on stolen skis

Last Wednesday, David Schlieper of Sports Outlet on the Sunday River Road reported that Andrew Baker, no address or age given, had refused to pay the replacement cost for skis he had rented, because Baker claimed the skis were stolen at Sunday River Ski Resort.

The officer responding to the store stopped the vehicle Baker was riding in. Baker returned to the store with Officer Darren Tripp. Tripp reported that Baker agreed to pay for the missing skis. No charges were filed.

Wednesday evening, Craig Bouchard of Frye told police he had left his disabled vehicle on Route 2 east of the Sunday River Road. Police reported the vehicle was protruding into the roadway and informed Bouchard it would be towed.

While patrolling late Thursday night, police found a dead coyote on the side of Route 2 near Bethel Auto Sales. The Warden's Service was notified.

On Sunday, Danny Johnson reported a downed wire on Paradise Road. Officer Tripp determined the wire was a downed television cable. Tripp reported the cable was hanging two inches off the street and presented a traffic hazard. Tripp cut and moved the cable and notified the cable company.

Entries in the Bethel Police incident log were light this week. Police Chief Dale Bellman said the weekend storm has put officers behind in their paperwork.

School goes on following bomb hoax at Telstar

A bomb threat Monday forced the partial evacuation of Telstar Regional High School, but in much of the school classes continued normally, according to Bethel Police Chief Dale Bellman.

The high school office reported the call to the Oxford County dispatcher at 11:44 a.m. A high school secretary reported a male saying: "I'm calling to tell you about the bomb in your cafeteria. Have a nice day."

The cafeteria and second floor of the high school were evacuated to the gymnasium, and after an initial search through the cafeteria, Bellman called for a canine unit.

The nearest unit, however, was two hours away at Brunswick Naval Air Station.

"Then a second search was conducted, and everybody felt comfortable that nothing unusual was found, so the students went back to lunch," Bellman said.

A false public alarm or report is a Class D crime and carries fines up to $2,000.

"The case is under investigation, anybody with further information should contact the Bethel Police Department at 824-3437," Bellman said.

Telstar Assistant Principal Carroll Higgins also said some kind of caller tracing system will probably be purchased for the school's phone system.

Town Meetings

Upton town budget up 11 %

By WENIZY HANSCOM

Upton voters will be asked Thursday night to approve a municipal budget of approximately $50,000, which is up about $5,500 from last year.

Selectman Constance Gagnon said increased insurance costs and expenses at the town's landfill are responsible for most of the budget growth.

Landfill expenses went up from $5,000 last year to a proposed $9,000 this year.

James River Co. has indicated the company is willing to sell the town the landfill site, Gagnon said. The state has scheduled the landfill for closure by July 1, 1993.

"We're still operating it as a landfill," Gagnon said. "James River has agreed to sell us the land. We need to negotiate a fee for it. After Town Meeting the selectmen will continue to research the cost and possibility of setting up a transfer station."

Insurance costs are also up. Last year voters approve $6,000 for insurance; selectmen are proposing $8,000 this year, Gagnon said.

While municipal expenses are increasing, the town's school budget will probably go down.

In FY '94 Upton budgeted $32,865 to educate four children in SAD 44.

The proposed tuition budget for three students in FY '94 is $27,725.

Voters will also be asked to approve $13,000 for Town Office expenses, $10,000 for snow removal, $1,000 for general assistant and fire protection, $2,000 for municipal lights, $3,000 for the miscellaneous account and $500 for the cemetery.

Elections

Voters will also elect a selectman to a three year term. Gagnon's term is up and she said she will run again.

Clayton Thompson will run for reelection as town clerk, treasurer and tax collector.

Alfred Gagnon's seat on the school committee is also up. Gagnon said he's hoping someone else will be nominated from the floor Thursday night to take his place.

Town Meeting will begin at 7 p.m., March 18 in the municipal building.

Greenwood

tax commitment, O'Donnell contended, "People have a right to expect some basis for the valuation of their property."

Heywood Sawyer, a real estate appraiser with an office in town, agreed with O'Donnell. "The job needs to be done so badly that there's no way to tell how badly," he said. "It's really an embarrassment."

Voters agreed, and approved the revaluation overwhelmingly.

Voters also accepted without objection the selectmen's request that the date of the annual Town Meeting be set back from the second Saturday in March to the last Saturday in the month, in order to allow the selectmen more time to prepare the financial information for the annual report.

Voters went along with the remaining warrant articles largely as the selectmen had recommended, but they did call for a few minor changes.

They required the code enforcement officer (Sam Timberlake) to submit documentation of the hours he works for his $4,000 annual salary.

And, here and there, they decided to spend a little more money than the selectmen recommended. They raised the recreation committee allocation to $3,000 (which it had been for a number of years), rather than the $2,000 figure recommended by the selectmen (who objected to not being told what the committee planned to do with the money and to not knowing how much money is in the Recreation Committee's private bank account).

Voters raised the Tri-Town Ambulance Service allocation from the $4,000 recommended by the selectmen to the $5,030 figure requested by Tri-Town.

And they added $1,136 to the social and educational services account, in order to provide funding for six organizations that had not received support last year. The remaining 10 organizations on the list will be funded at last year's level.

Voters, however, were far less generous with a request to fund improvements at Mt. Abram Village.

They turned down an article proposed by Sawyer (acting as pro-tem chairman of the Mt. Abram Village Association) proposing that the town spend $2,000 a year to maintain ten streetlights in the village and another $900 for more stop, yield and speed signs for the village.

Sawyer argued that the lights and signs were necessary for security and safety in the village, but town Road Commissioner Alan Seames noted that many residents of the village were opposed to the idea.

Most had their own security lights, Seames said, and as far as the signs were concerned, they disappeared as fast as they were put up.

"People just love to take signs," Seames said, and he also noted that stop signs were ineffective in isolated areas like the village. "Who's going to enforce it?" he asked.

The problem wasn't limited to out-of-state skiers, Seames said. "It doesn't make any difference whether they've got Mass. plates or Maine plates or whatever plates, they just don't stop."

After voters overwhelmingly rejected the lights and signs, Sawyer withdrew a much more costly third request: that the town spend $150,000 to improve 1.4 miles of road in the village.

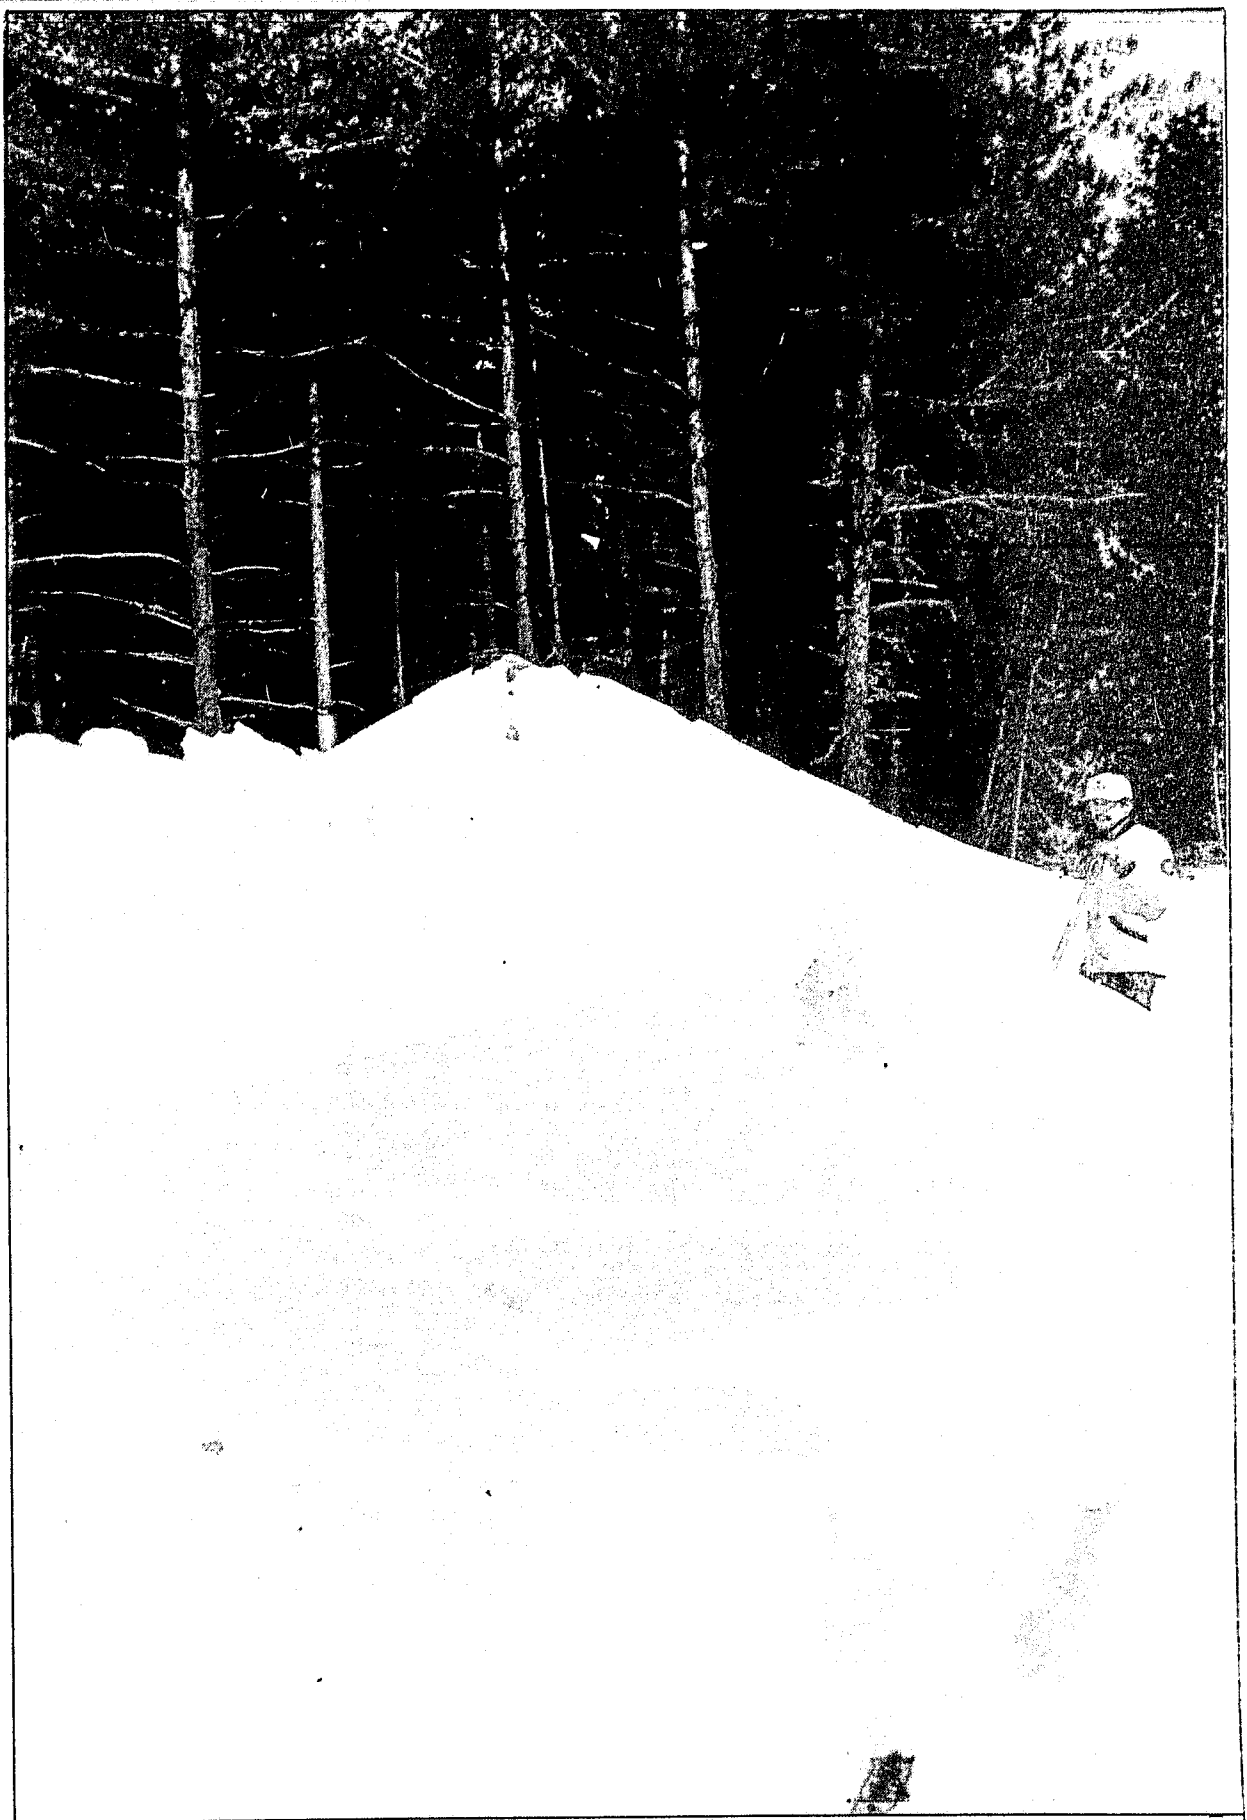

He said the decision to withdraw the request had been made after he and other village residents had reviewed the town's financial situation as represented in the annual report.

Town officers reelected

The town officers reelected Saturday were: Marie Bartlett as selectman, assessor and overseer of the poor; Raymond Harrington as SAD 44 school director; Phyllis Coolidge as tax collector, town clerk, treasurer and registrar of voters; Alan Seames as road commissioner; and Denise Swan as deputy tax collector, town clerk, treasurer and registrar.

The terms of Bartlett and Harrington are three years, the remaining positions one year.

The allocations approved by voters Saturday, when combined with anticipated increases in school and county expenses, are likely to mean a one mil increase in the town's tax rate, Bartlett said later.

RENTAL MANAGEMENT

Telstar career week

By KEITH SMITH
and CHRIS HOWE

Last week Telstar juniors and seniors participated in career week, which allowed students to experience different career opportunities.

Some students travelled out of New England exploring different occupations.

Junior Sara Brooks spent the week in California at a health service working under a nurse. On the other side of the United States, Cheri Meyers was in Florida working at a marine lab.

Telstar foreign exchange student Ingrid Hedlund journeyed to Vermont for career week. There she worked at a country inn tourist shop.

Mary Newell and Heather Harrison went to Boston. Mary job shadowed at Jewel Inc., while Heather worked with an attorney.

Culinary arts was the interest of T.J. Stebbins. T.J. found his work place in Bethel, at the Sudbury Inn. Stebbins prepared food at the Sudbury every night last week.

Stebbins was busy making salads, sandwiches and chicken plates. After his experience at the Sudbury Inn, he said he plans to pursue a career in culinary arts.

Junior Sean Gilson, who stocked shelves at the Village Store in Bryant Pond, said he thought career week should be extended to two weeks.

"Career week is a great experience," he said. "It shows students what the working world is like."

Senior Adam Craig spent the week with the #1 ranked University of Maine hockey team. He job shadowed the team's athletic trainer.

Bethel areas largest employer, Sunday River Ski Resort, contributed to Telstar's career week efforts by having six Telstar students spend the week at different areas of Sunday River, including marketing, grooming, and ski patrol.

"At the end of career week, many students will have discovered what careers are most interesting," said Telstar guidance counselor Dan Hart. "Others will have changed their minds and career goals. Some students will have established summer jobs, while others, having enhanced their decision-making skills, will pursue careers via college, vocational business schools or military service in the near future."

There was one problem with career week this year, snowstorms on Tuesday and Thursday that made travelling to job sites difficult. Students working for the district also found it hard to put in the required 35 hours.

(Editor's note: Chris Howe and Keith Smith spent career week at the Bethel Citizen—including the two snow days.)

Telstar underclassmen explore drug awareness issues

By CHRIS HOWE
and KEITH SMITH

Rod Abbott and peer helpers from Telstar and Mountain Valley High School combined to put on a drug awareness program for the freshmen and sophomores of Telstar on March 10 and 12.

The two-and-a-half day process was scheduled to include presentations by Melinda Montgomery, the Department of Motor Vehicles, and Mountain Valley peer helpers, but due to the snow day Thursday these presentations were canceled.

The shortened program consisted of a presentation by Jackson Gillman and a full day's events by Linda Daniels.

This year's assembly differed from those in past years. Students broke up into small groups and discussed the day's topics. Abbott, head of peer helpers and drug abuse counselor at Telstar, said he hoped that this year's program would help students understand how drugs ruin lives.

"Peoples' perspectives on drugs differ greatly depending on what experience they have had with them," Abbott said. "That's why every presentation is equally important."

In each of the small discussion groups, two Telstar peer helpers joined in to aid in the discussion. The peer helpers had prepared questions and videos were available.

Snacks for this year's program were donated by local area churches and drinks provided by Telstar peer helpers.

BOY SCOUT TROOP 565

Monday night some of the leaders attended a roundtable meeting in Dixfield.

Wednesday night the Troop had a guest, Merton Brown, who talked to the Scouts about their Constitutional rights and obligations as a citizen.

Also there were three scouts who received an advancement: Lloyd Sweetser, Eagle Scout, received a Bronze Palm; Matt Ryerson received his Star rank; and Alex Ojeda became a Second Class Scout.

CPS PTA CONFERENCE

The Crescent Park School PTA will present a mini-conference on Thursday, March 18, from 6 to 8 p.m. From 6 to 7 p.m., Rodney Abbott of the Community Chemical Awareness Team (CCAT) will speak on the PTA's role in drug education, and Chris Olson will speak on "Physical Fitness 2000."

From 7 to 8, "Children and Television" will be presented by Norma Salway and Marcie Tupper.

There will be no PTA business meeting and babysitting will be provided.

Dean's list

At Univ. of Southern Maine:

Beverly Bailey of Andover, Tracey Brady of Bethel, Kristen Delano of East Andover, Kristen Powell of Hanover and John Dorman of Locke Mills.

CCAT MEMBERS—The Community Chemical Awareness Team has received a $20,000 grant, which will be administered by the Western Maine Regional Council on Alcoholism. CCAT members include front row: Rodney Abbott, left, Edleen Winslow, Marie Laite, Adrienne Gallant and Sally Hannon. Second row: Ted Davis, Wendy Penley, Chelby Cavalero, Ann Holt, Lillian Conant, Chris Cole, Audrey Brooke and Sharon Rice. Back row: Dewaine Craig, Nathan Seckinger and Cory Campbell.

CCAT gets $20,000 grant

The Community Chemical Awareness Team has received a $20,000 grant from Maine's federal Alcohol and Drug Abuse Block Grant.

The drug and alcohol awareness group will use the funds to hire a part-time administrator and develop a plan to fight drug and alcohol abuse in the SAD 44 area, according to Gertrude O'Farrell, executive director of Western Regional Council on Alcoholism.

The grant was written by and awarded to the Western Regional Council on Alcoholism. The agency will oversee the CCAT grant.

CCAT was established in November of 1991, and the team was trained by the State of Maine Division of Alcohol and Drug Education Services.

CCAT is composed of community members, school personnel, parents, students, clergy, business owners, and law enforcement personnel. The team is committed to providing leadership and support in education and awareness programs for the prevention of substance abuse in SAD 44, according to CCAT co-coordinators Wendy Penley and Nathan Seckinger.

"With the financial support of the grant, we can now expand our efforts to the greater community and involve many more people in our prevention work," Penley said.

"A part-time area coordinator will be hired soon to help mobilize the community," O'Farrell said. "We are truly pleased to help another area of Western Maine receive funding for their prevention efforts."

WRCA currently administers a federal grant from the Western Maine Community Partnership, a council which serves the areas of Greater Farmington, Rumford and Oxford Hills.

Volunteers are needed in the SAD 44 area. For more information contact Penley at 824-3198, Seckinger at 824-3622 or O'Farrell at 777-1464.

MARCH 1993 SALE

Locke Mills

By LORRAINE MILLS

The Greenwood Fire Department Auxiliary will meet Monday, March 22 at the Fire Station at 6:30 p.m.

Donna and Ted Downs, Pembroke, N.H., came Tuesday and stopped in to see John and Lorraine Mills before going on to see her mother, Elvira Littlehale. She arrived at Market Square Health Facility just as her mother died. Although it was expected anytime it is never easy and our sincere sympathy is offered to Donna and Ted and Donna's brother Larry and wife Phyllis. She also left two grandchildren, Terri and Tim Holland, and two great-grandchildren, Patty and Corey, all of New Hampshire.

Val and Caroline Greene of Massachusetts were at their home here over the weekend and took in some skiing in spite of the miserable weather.

Ralph Mills, of Colchester, Vt., returned home Saturday after spending a couple days with his parents and shoveling off the roofs at his camp in West Greenwood. We would have liked to have kept him the whole weekend but he had prior commitments.

I don't know about anyone else, but I am thoroughly sick of winter. I prefer to have the snow come in December and January where it belongs and then see it start disappearing in March and April. I feel badly for the wild animals and the strays and all those who have to be outside. If one chooses to be that's one thing but some have no choice.

The only thing I like about winter is the cold weather and that doesn't thrill me like it "usta." I have reached the time of life where everyone and everything is getting old-us, the dog, the cats and the car. Cold does strange things to old bones and old car parts. Even the three youngest cats are tired of being hived up all the time and are either tearing the house apart or snarling at each other. I keep telling them that "birdies in their little nests agree," but it doesn't work any better with them than it did with Ralph and Marcia when they got to squabbling. I didn't ever bother trying the next tactic I used with the children which was "God wants little children to be nice to one another." The response I got from that one was from Marcia who from the height of her six-year-old wisdom said, "Well, He hasn't told Ralphie that yet."

Another 0 degree morning but sunny and windy.

Herb and Dottie Adams and Erin of Hanover called on Saturday on their way to Fryeburg for Erin to meet her ride back to Plymouth, N.H.

Bernie and Debbie Michaud drove son Ben back to Lake Placid, N.Y. last weekend for his ride back to Northern Michigan University. He spent the week before visiting here.

Mrs. Marian Rich will observe her ninety-seventh birthday next week at a rest home in Virginia. She was a neighbor and summer resident here for over fifty years.

Brandon and Tara Salway were visitors here Sunday on their way home to Old Orchard Beach, Norma and Tara did some cross-country skiing.

Mrs. Debbie Michaud is spending a few days this week in York with her mother, who is recuperating from knee surgery.

There were fewer accidents in the horse and buggy days because drivers didn't have to depend on their own intelligence.

Schools were closed two days this week due to snowstorms.

The selectmen met on March 10 with road commissioner Mike Lewit. A letter from the State declaring they had not received Upton's Shoreland Zoning map was discussed. It was voted to hire Everett Eames of Eames Garage in Errol, N.H. to push back snowbanks of the town roads.

Ron and Bette Jordan arrived home from Florida.

Saturday, March 6, James Coffin and grandson Jimbo came, and Jimbo shoveled a path to the shed where the kindling is. Sherry Thayer came and brought Jason for the weekend. He had a good time riding his trike outdoors. Beryl Ojai and Joe Vatcher brought some biscuits and frozen raspberries. Richard Felt brought a couple of biscuits and red-flannel hash.

I got a letter from Ina Davis in Dover, N.H. She is having quite a time with her hip but says she has to keep going.

Saturday, March 6, Sharon Silver brought a beautiful centerpiece; it looks like spring—I mean the centerpiece.

I heard there were 83 at the West Paris dance on March 6.

I guess you would call March 11 a snowy day.

North Newry

By GIL SEELEY

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Eleanor Davis, Sylvia Wight and Bea Lowell of the "Newry Bowling Gang" enjoyed a period of bowling at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford. Of the "Lefties" Betsy was high on the triples, beating Karlene by two pins. She also was high on the singles with a string of 104. Of the "Righties," Eleanor was high on the average and also high on the singles. Betsy had five spares, Karlene five spares, Gil one strike and one spare, Eleanor one strike, Bea two spares. All went to lunch and shopping.

News from Louise Tetley in Florida—nice warm weather, around 60 degrees and sometimes it gets down to 30 degrees. Bea Lowell is back from Florida and says she wishes she was back there because of all that snow here. Louise says her bowling is nothing to brag about, but she enjoys it anyway. She plays bingo every Wednesday, and has enjoyed a few plays and comedies. She will be surprised at all the snow when she comes back unless it is all melted by then. All the "gang" says hello to her.

Also received a card from Doris Parent, who is in Florida, telling us how great the weather is. No snow and she does not miss it at all, but misses her bowling fun. She says she will make up for it when she comes back in April. A lot of us wish we were in Florida right now...I, for one, sure do...

Julia Goodwin of Unity is spending a week here in North Newry with her daughter Karlene and son-in-law Ras Bachelder.

EXTEND YOUR FILING DATE

This article is brought to you by Jane D. Gray, CPA

There are a number of reasons for not filing your tax return by April 15th. Some people have financial transactions or joint ventures which may be difficult to summarize by the April 15th deadline. Others simply don't get around to filing. The automatic extension does not require that you state a reason for requesting additional time.

To avoid penalties for filing later than April 15th, certain steps must be taken. You must file an extension (IRS Form 4868) and show an estimate of your tax liability. If your estimate of the total tax due exceeds the amount you have already paid in, you are required to send the difference along with your extension request. If your tax estimate on the extension request is less than the tax on your final return, you may be subject to penalties.

The automatic extension period is from April 15th to August 15th (August 16th this year because the 15th falls on a Sunday). Additional time may be obtained by filing a request for further extension. This second extension requires that you state the reason for the delay.

If you are a U.S. citizen living abroad, you have until June 15th to file your return. This does not require the filing of an extension form. When you file your tax return, you attach a statement showing that you qualified for the extension. This two-month extension does not apply to taxpayers who are just traveling outside the U.S. on April 15th.

The rules for extending the filing date of state tax returns vary from state to state. If you need an extension, check on the rules for the states in which you will be required to file.

Richard Felt's band has been making dance music at Locke Mills and West Paris this week. They report good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews spent Monday with their niece.

Richard Felt has been around doing his good work for many who are in need of special help. This week he has helped Carl Brooks, Lettie Brooks, Bertha Benoit, Olive Davis and several others and any other places where help is needed. Many thanks, Richard.

It started to storm Wednesday and snowed all day Thursday. It was reported the roads were slippery and to be careful driving.

Another storm is to arrive Sunday, so sit back and enjoy it. Spring isn't here yet.

I have heard people say that they loathe March and it should never have been put into the calendar year. But look at the bright side; the last part of March is often delightful in many ways. It's a good time to explore the out-of-doors.

Right now as I look out of the window at the deep banks of snow, it looks more like January but it's melting and weeping from the eaves. Can spring be far behind? I can picture it in my mind. Can't you just see the cedar waxwings fluttering back and forth and a catbird flitting through the alders doing the same? I look down to the pond, where the swallows are putting on a display of aerial acrobats that affords a delightful entertainment. Great numbers sit on the wires. Others whirl and skim over the pond; every so often they plunge their breasts into the water and shatter its mirror. I usually find myself caught up in their excitement.

I think of the first time I saw some small animal swim the Sanborn River when I was boating. The tiny animal was riding high in the water, paddling his feet with considerable conviction, but moved ahead slowly. He came right up to my boat and I pulled ahead to let him pass. It was a chipmunk, a complete surprise to me. On he went to shore, scrambled out, shook himself then darted off to the spruces. I wondered why he made the trip. Was he just curious of what was on the other side of the river? Or did he want to be a Christopher Columbus of the chipmunk family? I'll never know and probably never see one swim again. But I can hope can't I as I look forward to spring?

We are still busy removing snow from buildings and opening driveways.

I visited David, Sally and Mary Holt in Norway on Saturday. On Sunday they came to the farm so I visited with them again and also with Ann and the rest of the family. What an elegant dinner Fay had prepared for us. After eating Mary went with her father to help him get some wood from the shed to my wood box. It was so nice that Ann, Sally and I took a walk.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Inman and Mrs. and Mrs. John Betts attended a birthday party for friends in West Paris.

Milton and his brother Vernon Inman went fishing one day this week. Then on another day Milton accompanied his son to Concord on business.

I have pondered for some time how to write in rhyme the party for Lisa Piccirillo, a petite girl, age two whose birthday was celebrated on Saturday afternoon, March 6. There was a gathering of friends and family at the home of her parents, Fran and Debra Piccirillo, where all enjoyed watching Lisa open her many gifts then say thank you with a smile and a kiss. All things were enjoyed from clothes to paints to toys. Two candles were on her cake you know; Waiting for Daddy to say, "Blow, Lisa, blow." Balloons to the ceiling were a float Over the whole room Drifting like little boats Way up to the moon. Lisa, little Flower, that you are, A child so sweet so fair. We now know you by your name; But you were a stranger when you came. When I first saw violets in your eyes. A very pleasant surprise awaited me then To see rich brown tints in your hair. Somewhere a bunch of red tulips Came out to press your tips. Your skin like cream and peaches glows. Was it made from a blushing rose? Dropping from heaven one day Came an angel's bouquet. From which flower petals blew And made up a special part of YOU. You're a joy to Mom and Dad. To your "Grams," "Grams" and friends. A little girl that makes them glad. A happy child age just two and this is what we wish for you.... May the blossoms of love Perfume your days And may happiness walk with you Now and always.

Joshua Johnson from North Lovell spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nelson, Jr. Saturday, March 6. Seven members of the Boy Scouts Troop 155 went skiing on Shawnee Peak, Bridgton on Sunday with Albert Nelson, Jr. and Gene Royer as chaperones.

Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War 1861-1865, Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19 met Wednesday evening at the home of Helen Grover with President Mary Jones presiding. The regular Tent business was attended to. A motion was moved and seconded to have the Patriotic Instructor make up and get printed invitations for the Veterans, townspeople, etc., to march with them on Memorial Sunday. Installation of officers was done at this meeting with Dept. President Gail Butterfield acting as installing officer with her staff of Dept. Inspector Edith Pulkanin and Dept. Historian Emogene Staples. Officers installed were: President, Mary Beth Jones; Senior Vice President, Carolyn Heino; Junior Vice President, Eleanor Smith; Patriotic Instructor, Leslie Dean; Chaplain, Helen Grover; Secretary, Joyce Gouin; Guide and Press Correspondent, Eleanor Nelson; Guard, Carolyn Heino; the Treasurer and color bearers were absent and will be installed at a later date. The mystery package was won by Emogene Staples. Changes and additions for the by-laws and constitution were discussed. Future meetings were planned and the next meeting will be on April 28 at the home of Helen Grover with Eleanor Smith and Eleanor Nelson on the refreshment committee. The May 26 meeting will be at the K. of P. Hall with the Memorial program, and the June 16 meeting will be at the home of Leslie Dean and will have a program for the disposal of retired flags. A nice lunch was served after the meeting by Mary Beth Jones and Leslie Dean. The installing staff was presented with gifts and they each spoke a few words of thanks and encouragement for the organization.

It has been interesting to watch the snow cover on the electrical wire holder in the back yard. With imagination, it looked like a huge angel cake. Then the snow melted from around the sides and when more snow came upon it, it looked like a huge mushroom-kind of rounded. Now more snow is coming down at this writing and we will see what that makes it look like. The birds have been out there lowering the feed in the bird feeder getting ready for the next storm which has been predicted for the weekend.

Well, town meeting has come and gone with fewer and fewer people attending. There were about 25 people at the most there to vote on 68 articles. A new selectman had to be found as John Evan did not wish to be re-elected. Diane Dupuis was nominated to take this office. As a result of this, she had to resign from the planning board and Eleanor Nelson was elected to complete the remainder of her term. Mary Fox was elected Town Clerk; Albert Fox as Fire Chief; Mike McAllister as Constable; Carleton Barker, Jr. as Road Commissioner; Tom Barker as Civil Emergency Preparedness Director; John Woodbury as Code Enforcement officer; Tom Barker as alternate; Albert Nelson, Sr. as Sexton, and Mike McAllister as Board of Appeals. Cemetery committee of Dan Barker, Eleanor Nelson, Carolyn Heino to remain the same. It was voted to have the selectmen appoint residents to several town offices on account of the low attendance at the meeting which includes alternate to Planning Board, dog officer, health inspector, plumbing inspector, and surveyor of wood and bark. Much discussion was held about the salt and sand which the town uses on the roads. I guess some people have been taking more than they should for their doorsteps and walkways. It was suggested that the Fire Dept. or Boy Scouts or some organization to buy some sand especially for people who need it for their doorsteps and walkways. It was voted to take $23,000 from surplus for maintenance of the Waterford, Albany, Stoneham landfill. In all, the town residents voted to grant or raise about $150,000 for the articles before them. The meeting was adjourned by Moderator John Woodbury at 1:30 p.m. The Firemen's Auxiliary did a splendid job of serving lunch at the noon break of sandwiches, hot chili, chowder, pies (delicious) and cookies, etc., and coffee and cold drinks. They took in about $40 which was good. Kathy Adams, Debbie Jones and Debbie Mason served on this committee.

The Knight Riders Snowmobile Club met on Tuesday night with about 21 members--Eben Harmon presided. After the meeting, Joan Brill showed a video of their trip out West snowmobiling which several members went on, namely Pete and Cindy Fox, Bob and Anne Wyman, Eben and Alice Harmon, Joan and Steve Brill and Olin (Duffer) Ridlon and Irene Chadbourne. They all agreed that it was a super trip with beautiful scenery, riding, and social time. They saw elk, buffalo, and the bubbling springs, etc. I believe that about 90 people from the surrounding area went on this trip.

To you good people who faithfully read my column, I wasn't sick last week. I did send in my news, but for some reason it didn't get printed in the Citizen. I expect that, because of extra advertising, there was no room left for my news.

Last Tuesday was a busy day for us. Peggy had an appointment in the early a.m. to have a permanent. Oh dear! What these poor women have to go through to keep looking beautiful. After dinner I took a long walk up to my nephew's while Peggy was making a casserole to take to Grange. That evening we went to Pomona Grange at Oxford. We had a delicious supper and then the meeting. This was C.W.A. night and nearly all of the offices were filled by visiting ladies from other Pomona Granges. This was a nice meeting with an attendance of 76, I believe.

Wednesday was an excellent day and we appreciated it. We took three gallon containers of water up to Bertha Benoit's. She's not able to be out and doing yet, so has to depend on friends to supply her with what water she needs, as her water is either frozen or there is a broken pipe and can't do anything about it until the snow is gone and the ground is thawed out. It is rough to be used up and out of water at the same time. Our sister, Laura Hutchins from East Andover called on us Wednesday evening as she was on her way to Dr. Waite's in Norway for a back treatment.

Thursday we decided to go to Auburn. I stopped at Stephens Memorial Hospital to have a needed blood test and then we went on our way. Peggy wanted to go to Joanne's Fabrics for supplies and I wanted to get some typewriter ribbons at Service Merchandise, and we were lucky as they are in the same shopping center. Then we went to visit Viva. Her daughter was home when we got there. Peggy had taken some soup and crackers and Wynona produced some bread and some luncheon meat, so we all had lunch together. Wynona had to leave for work soon after lunch, but Diane Dyke came to be with Viva for the afternoon. After visiting quite a while, we left for home. We decided to stop at Bob Morin's Furniture place to price glider rockers and ended up buying a better recliner rocker. They'll deliver it when we are ready for it. After trying it out, I decided that I'd probably be able to nap in it just fine. We picked up our weekly supply of groceries at Shop and Save as we continued on our way home.

The weather on Friday morning was rather miserable, but since they weren't predicting any better weather for Saturday, Peggy decided that she might as well do her card work at Laverdiere's on Friday. She did get back home quite early and hadn't stopped or taken time for any lunch. I stayed inside out of the storm. I did get a call from my doctor saying that my blood test was okay.

The storm had stopped Saturday morning and that meant more work to be done. My nephew plowed out part of the yard in the early morning and after breakfast I went to work with the snowblower to finish the job. Peggy came out and did some shoveling as well as cleaning off the vehicles and moving them so I could clear the area where they are parked. We got well cleaned out that forenoon.

Saturday evening we took more water up to Bertha Benoit and then went to the dance at West Paris Grange Hall. We were surprised to find Viva's daughter and oldest granddaughter there to dance. I couldn't dance anything but waltzes and not many of them, but Peggy danced nearly every dance for the evening.

Sunday we were invited up to Loretta and Emerson Merrill's in West Bethel, for a birthday supper. This little celebration was honoring the birthdays of their daughter, Samantha Murch, also sister Peggy. The guests both received presents and cards. We enjoyed the supper and the evening very much. Thursday morning, March 11, Samantha and husband Tom flew to Florida for an eight-day vacation. Russell Merrill will join them in Florida for the weekend. With spring coming, Tom will soon be too busy to take a vacation.

Peggy had a short day today and was back from her card work quite early. She stopped and visited Verna Swan at Norway Convalescent Home on her way. She found Verna doing quite well. When my parents moved to Woodstock from Norway, Verna's parents were our next-door neighbors. I was about nine months old at the time and Verna loved to come to our place and hold me. Therefore, I've always said that Verna was one of my first babysitters.

Mary Lovejoy reports that some of her visitors this past week have been Marsha Baxter from Oxford, also Priscilla and Julie Brett.

Mary has visited Bertha Benoit a couple times this week to help pass some of the long hours. Bertha is usually a very active person and on the go. Being confined to home is hard to take.

Raymond Mack has been helping Elio McKean with snow removal and other work.

On March 20 the dance with the Richard Felt Orchestra will be held at West Summer Grange Hall. According to my W. J. Wheeler & Co. calendar, it is also the first day of spring. As I look out this morning and see the snow still falling, it is hard to believe that spring is right around the corner. Mother Nature was late giving us a covering of snow and just maybe she may be late taking it away. In the meantime, keep the snow removal equipment in good trim and ready for the next storm.

FREE SKI DAY FRIDAY

Friday, March 19, is SAD 44 Community Ski Day at Sunday River.

The resort will offer free lift tickets, free rentals and, for anyone 13 years of age and older, Guaranteed Learn to Ski (level one only). If anyone should want any other clinics (children or adult), these will have to be paid for. There will be no breaks on meals or food. No lunch is provided.

This Community Day is open to anyone residing in the boundaries of the SAD #44. The schools are Andover Elementary, Crescent Park, Telstar Middle School, Woodstock Elementary School and Telstar High School. Student listings of each school will be checked at the window. Adults will need to show some form of identification (i.e., driver's license) to distinguish them as a resident of the area. Their license should show them as a resident of Albany, Andover, Bethel, Bryant Pond (Woodstock), Gilead, Locke Mills (Greenwood), Newry or West Bethel.

Students of Gould Academy should be prepared to show their valid student identification cards.

BETHEL SENIOR CITIZENS

Sixty-two Bethel Senior Citizens enjoyed an outstanding St. Patrick's celebration on Wednesday, March 10 at the Methodist Church dining room. A delicious roast pork dinner with all the fixings was served, including lemon pie and a beautiful St. Patrick cake made and donated by the Hometown Bakery, which will be opening soon in Bethel.

The business meeting was conducted by president Helen Saunders and reports were given.

Muriel Faudi of the Sunshine Committee reported on the sick list and the cards sent as follows: Richard Bryant, Florabel Haines, Edna York, Julia Brown, Pearlina McMillin, Tony Pugliese, Louise Lincoln, Mary Faine.

Treasurer Sarah Stevens reported there are now 74 members under 80, 19 members over 80 and 3 over 90.

Birthdays were: Maxine Brown, present and welcomed by many friends, Betty Perkins, Lyndell Carter, Gladys Jordan, Pauline Wieden, Alberta Angevine, Iva Abrahamson, Gerry Howe, Mary Keniston, Polly Davis, And Alberta and Ernest Angevine celebrated their 52nd wedding anniversary.

Lindley Wieden read some anecdotes and reported on several matters. Folders and information on Living Wills and taxes were available. There is free tax information at the Town Office every Thursday. Exercise equipment is available at the Health Center at a low cost. The Carter Cross Country Ski Center has low rates for Senior Citizens and soup treat on Tuesdays.

A lovely Christmas doll was donated by Betty Grover and raffled. Grace Morrill won the doll and the club won over $40. Rudy and Joanne Royer are busy with their Silver Savers which will be collected in May.

The Western Maine Transportation bus still leaves for Lewiston on Mondays—$4 round trip—and for Rumford on Tuesdays. A popular and economical way to travel. Call toll free 1-800-339-9687 for information and on Friday to be picked up on Monday.

The bus trip to Scarborough for the Flower Show leaves at 8:30 a.m., or before if everyone is there, on Friday, March 19. At present all seats are taken but a waiting list is being made.

Joe Perham entertained the group with many great stories and songs and brightened another wintry day for everyone.

The next meeting will be held at the Moose's Tale Restaurant, at the intersection of Sunday River Rd. and Rt. 2. Luncheon will be $8, which includes tax and tip.

CHAMBERS GET GRANT

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce has been awarded a Maine Tourism Partnership Grant.

The Bethel chamber accepted the award in partnership with the Maine Mountains & Lakes Chambers of Commerce.

The money will be used to promote Maine's western mountain and lakes area at the Toronto Travel & Leisure Show on April 30 through May 2.

On hand at the ceremony in the Legislature were executive directors Debbie Wyman of the Oxford Hills Chamber of Commerce, Evelyn McAllister of the Rangely Lakes Chamber of Commerce, Andrea Nurse of the Sugarloaf Area Chamber of Commerce, Wendy Howes of the Western Maine Mountains Chamber of Commerce, Jacinda Cotton-Castro of the Farmington Chamber of Commerce and Robin Zinchuk of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce.

Rotary Club notes

Jewell Clark and Don Katlin were the guest presenters at the March 9 Rotary meeting. They shared an overview of their signmaking business. Don and Jewell are responsible for many of the signs we see in our everyday travels around the Bethel area. They showed examples of the work they do to take a "concept" and fine tune it to a workable, legible and artistic sign which makes a solid statement for a business.

Their talent is apparent when one looks at the versatility and professionalism of their work.

Thanks to the many Rotarians who took part in last Wednesday's Career Day at Telstar High School. The Vocational Service Committee, chaired by Marilyn Wyman and Dan Hart, coordinated the day's activities.

The pancake breakfast was a great success raising nearly $700 for scholarships.

Guests for the morning were Thomas and Emily Parsons, Billy and Erin Murphy and Tommy Reed.

From the Bethel Area

Chmb. of Commerce

Welcome to our newest member, The United Way of Oxford County. Dennis Gray, executive director.

All members and friends are invited to the upcoming Business After Hours at the Bethel Frame Shop, new location, Route 26 next to the Unicorn Flower Shop, on Monday, March 29, 5:30-7:30 p.m.

Eat the Heat Cookoff, Firefighters Race Sunday

The Sunday River Ski Resort will host the second annual Eat the Heat Chili Cookoff and Firefighter's Race on March 21.

Festivities begin at 10 a.m. as up to 20 teams of firefighters from across the Northeast engage in a Giant Slalom race on the Tempest trail. Each team consists of five firefighters, dressed in full turnout gear. All five members of the team race together, and must carry a fire hose down the course. The top three teams take home a trophy and cash prizes.

At noon, restaurants and individuals from across Maine and New Hampshire will vie for the Chili Cookoff crown. Over 15 competitors are expected. Competitors must prepare chili on-site, from scratch. Maine television personalities will serve as judges. Samples of the chili are available for fifty cents each, with all proceeds benefiting the Maine Handicapped Ski Program at Sunday River.

Task Force notes:

The Bethel Area Task Force will meet from 7 to 8:30 Sunday night, March 21 at the Bingham House. A team led by John Shorb will report on its plans for an upcoming community event on customer relations. Gwyneth Bohr will have just returned from the NTL members' meeting and will report on its discussions and any implications for the Bethel community.

The meeting will include an exercise in recognizing and appreciating our own differences. All Task Force members and other interested citizens are invited, Sunday, March 21, 7 to 8:30 at the Bingham House.

MHS Ski-A-Thon Saturday

Maine Handicapped Skiing (MHS) skiing program at Sunday River will hold its eighth annual fundraising event Saturday, March 20. There are 600 individuals registered on 120 teams, according to MHS Executive Director Paula Wheeler, and 20 of the participants are MHS disabled skiers.

"I'm doing it (the Ski-A-Thon) to raise money and have fun," says Andy Barlow, mono skier and MHS volunteer instructor. "I do it to help the program too," said fellow volunteer and four-tracker, Jay Germain.

Volunteers, 100 this year, assist with registration, computer tallies, at check points and on courtesy patrol to help make the Ski-A-Thon a safe fun and rewarding day for everyone.

The largest single-day fundraising event in the State of Maine, the 1992 Ski-A-Thon participants raised $280,000 from 8,300 contributors.

Team registration begins at 7 a.m. Saturday. Participants ski to raise pledges from 8 to 4 p.m. Lunch is served at the lifts and a barbecue begins at 4:30. The awards ceremony begins at 6 p.m. Team members receive a lift ticket for the day, a commemorative T-shirt, lunch, the barbecue and dancing.

This year's sponsors are Sunday River Ski Resort, providing $30,000 in lift passes; Northern Data Systems, providing computers and volunteers to tally the day's results for the awards ceremony and Surgi-Tech, Inc., who sponsors the barbecue and awards ceremony.

To learn more about Maine Handicapped Skiing and the Ski-A-Thon call the MHS Ski Center at 824-2440.

FINNISH-AMERICAN SOCIETY

The March meeting of the Finnish-American Heritage Society of Maine will be held March 21 at 2 p.m. in Heritage Hall, West Paris. Following the business meeting the program will feature Phil Denison, one of the area's favorite homespun humorists.

There will also be a coffee hour followed by practice dancing for those who have an interest.

WOODSTOCK SIGN UPS

There will be a sign up for T-ball, baseball, and softball for Woodstock residents on Wednesday, March 31, from 6-8 p.m. at the Woodstock Town Office.

There will be a try-out/practice for the Woodstock Bambino League Baseball Team for all children ages 10-12 years old at the Woodstock Elementary School on Saturday, April 3, from 10 a.m. to noon.

ELDERHOSTEL MONTH AT SUNDAY RIVER INN

March is a month of Elderhostelling for the staff at Sunday River Inn. The inn, in cooperation with The Bethel Historical Society, is sponsoring five weeks of Elderhostel programming covering such exciting subjects as downhill skiing, cross-country skiing, dogsledding, classic films, local history, astronomy, birding, polar geography, American art, and northeastern ecology.

Many local residents are serving as course instructors, and the inn staff adds extracurricular enthusiasm to each week with local tour, picnics, and special events. Anyone wishing information on enrolling in an Elderhostel program or offering a course in the future can contact Steve or Peggy Wight or Carol Post at Sunday River Inn-824-2410.

Just Imagine Coffee House

March 20, at the Just Imagine Coffee House, two unique groups will be spotlighted. Both have performed in our area often, and both will afford the listener with an evening long remembered.

The Three of Us is based in Farmington. The members of the group are Lorrie Ferrari, Lynne LeSuer, and Tony Scucci. This trio has been together for over four years performing at schools, weddings and community functions. Their music ranges in flavor from folk to contemporary, and their hard work benefits the Franklin County Children's Task Force.

The evening's entertainment will also include Jewel Clark and Donnie Katlin. Both of these entertainers are familiar to local audiences, and together, or individually, offer easy listening for the country music lover in all of us.

Originally from Kansas City, Mo., Katlin arrived in Bethel in 1973 and for many years the accomplished guitarist and vocalist performed with area bands and as a soloist.

Clark performed at the Coffee House last March, reaching back with older country music and a tribute to her father, Yodeling Slim Clark. This year she plans to perform songs by Kathy Mattea, Mary-Chapin Carpenter and Vince Gill.

The Just Imagine Coffee House is held in the lower meeting room of the West Parish Congregational Church adjacent to the campus of Gould Academy. The doors open just before 7 p.m. with the first set beginning about 7:15. As always, there will be open mike time for drop-in talent. A donation of $3 is requested at the door ($1.50 for seniors and under 12).

In case of inclement weather, the Coffee House will be canceled.

Obituaries

GUENTHER A. MAHLER

Guenther Alexander Mahler, a resident of Bethel for the past 9 years, died suddenly at his home on Sunday, March 14, 1993.

Mr. Mahler was born in Germany on Dec. 30, 1921, the son of Bernhard and Helene Jacobowitz Mahler. He immigrated to the United States in 1937, became a naturalized citizen in 1943 and served in the U.S. Army in the European theater of operations during World War II.

Mr. Mahler was well-known in the furniture manufacturing industry, with a career spanning nearly 35 years. For over 30 years he worked at Hale Company, Inc. of East Arlington, Vt., rising to the position of vice-president. While a resident of Arlington, Mr. Mahler was instrumental in the founding of the Arlington Rescue Squad, and was named an Honorary Life Member.

In 1984, he moved to Bethel and was employed at Hanover Dowel Company and later at Andover Wood Products, Inc. After his retirement in 1989, he became an active member of the West Bethel Union Church and a tutor in the Maine Adult Literacy program.

He is survived by his wife, the former Barbara Overlock, whom he married in 1950; two daughters, Susan Levine of Nashua, N.H. and Stephanie Mahler of Fox Point, Wis.; and one son Andrew Mahler of Roswell, Ga.

At Mr. Mahler's request, his body has been donated to the Tufts Medical Center for its research program. There will be no calling hours; a memorial service will be held at the West Bethel Union Church on Wednesday, March 17 at 2 p.m.

Contributions in his memory may be made to the West Bethel Union Church, West Bethel, Maine, 04286 or to the Arlington Rescue Squad, Inc., Arlington, Vermont 05250.

Legendre - Somers

Leo and Lucienne Legendre of Bog Road, Bethel, announce the engagement of their daughter Kathy Ann to Dwayne A. Somers of St. Johnsbury, Vt.

Kathy graduated from Telstar Regional High School and is attending New England School of Hair Design in West Lebanon, N.H.

Dwayne is the son of Raymond and Virginia Somers of Barnet, Vt. He graduated from Blue Mountain Union High School in Wells River, Vt., and is currently employed at Pike Industries. He is a member of the Vermont Army National Guard.

An Oct. 9, 1993, wedding is planned.
